Robinson+Cole Adds New Counsel in Four Markets

Firm promotes two lawyers in Hartford and Boston and expands in Miami and New York

HARTFORD, CT (November 8, 2016) – Robinson+Cole is pleased to announce the addition of Suzanne C. Ferguson to its Business Transactions Group in Miami and Thomas M. Sweeney Jr. to its Real Estate and Development Group in New York. In addition, the firm has promoted two associates, Pamela H. Del Negro of the Health Law Group and Jonathan R. Hausner of the Construction Group, to counsel, effective January 1, 2017.

“These additions and promotions are very significant to us because they impact four of the firm’s most strategic practices – health care, the technology side of business transactions, real estate and affordable housing finance, and construction. We are excited to be able to expand our capacity in these areas in four of the firm’s key markets – Miami, New York, Hartford, and Boston,” said Stephen E. Goldman, Robinson+Cole’s Managing Partner. “It’s my pleasure to welcome Suzanne and Tom to Robinson+Cole and to congratulate Pam and Jon on their well-deserved promotions.”

Suzanne C. Ferguson – Ms. Ferguson is a member of Robinson+Cole’s Business Transactions Group. She will work primarily in the firm’s Miami office. Ms. Ferguson has experience working with a diverse group of clients, ranging from corporations listed on the Fortune 500 to smaller technology start-ups. She assists clients in the negotiation and drafting of outsourcing contracts, and has significant experience with contracts for different types of technology services. Ms. Ferguson also has significant experience analyzing and monitoring risk, negotiating prelitigation settlements, evaluating and advising on regulatory compliance, outlining purchase agreements, and managing collaborative negotiations.

Thomas M. Sweeney Jr. – Mr. Sweeney is a member of Robinson+Cole’s Real Estate and Development Group. He is located in the firm’s New York City office. Mr. Sweeney concentrates his practice on general real estate practice and, in particular, focuses on representing portfolio and conduit lenders in originating mortgage and mezzanine loans on retail, office, hospitality, multifamily, medical, mining, and other property types, with an emphasis on affordable housing finance. In addition, he represents tax credit investors in redevelopment companies and has experience with issues concerning joint venturers, owners, landlords, and tenants in acquisitions, dispositions, leasing, and land use.

Pamela H. Del Negro – Ms. Del Negro is a member of Robinson+Cole's Health Law Group. She works primarily in the firm's Hartford office. Ms. Del Negro advises institutional providers, including hospitals and ambulatory surgery centers, as well as physician practice groups, community providers, and other health care entities, on health care issues and general corporate matters. She provides legal counsel on a full range of transactional and regulatory health law issues, including co-management arrangements, compliance plans, the acquisition and merger of medical entities, Medicare and Medicaid fraud and abuse and the Stark law, hospital affiliations, the privacy and security of personal health information, corporate governance, private placements, and contracting. She also works with clients on managed care contracting, the corporate practice of medicine issues, clinical integration and antitrust issues, and structuring and acquiring electronic health records technology, including negotiating and documenting software agreements.

Jonathan R. Hausner – Mr. Hausner is a member of Robinson+Cole's Construction Group. He works primarily in the firm's Boston office. Mr. Hausner focuses his practice on the representation of public and private owners, general contractors, subcontractors, material suppliers, and construction sureties and handles all aspects of construction project consultation and construction litigation.
